(2) Dear Jack,

In your last e-mail, you asked me what my favorite movie is. Well, I would say it is Still Alice. The movie is about Alice Howard, a successful university linguistics professor(語言學教授), faces her life after she is diagnosed(診斷) with early onset familial Alzheimer's disease(早發性阿茲海默症) at the age of fifty. People with AD(Alzheimer's disease) will slowly lose their memories, and worst of all, they may not remember who they are! I think none of us likes the feeling of losing things, but Alice loses pieces of her life EVERY DAY. How sad!

I learned from the movie that the only time we have is the present. So, after seeing the movie, I decided to make some changes. First, I plan to do volunteer work for a AD house once a week. I want to do something for people even though I won't get any money from it. Second, I'll stop complaining (抱怨) about my life because having a healthy body is lucky enough. If I can be happy with what I have, then every day will be a gift.

Yours,
Roger
