A New Life

The birth of a new life always brings people a lot of happiness. However, the people in the East and in the West celebrate it in different ways.

In Taiwan, for example, parents always have a party after their baby is one month old. This kind of party is called "Full Month Party". Happy parents invite their friends to the party and enjoy a big dinner together. And their friends often give the parents red envelopes as a symbol of good luck. Their parents give back special cakes or sticky rice to their friends as presents.

However, American people have a "Baby Shower Party" before a new baby is born. They prepare a lot of gifts for a mother-to-be and her baby. At the baby showers, they often play games, like learning how to make milk or how to take a bath for a baby. A mother-to-be can get some useful knowledge from these games. In this way, she knows how to take care of her baby after he/she is born. How sweet, right?
