A Cheap Meal

A man went into a restaurant and sat down at one of the tables. A waiter went up to him and gave him the menu. The man read it carefully and ordered all the most expensive dishes. The waiter served the meal and the man ate it with great joy. Then, a boy came into the restaurant and sat at the man's table.

The waiter came up again and said to the man, "What would your little boy like, sir?"

"Oh, just an ice-cream," the man told him. Then he stood up and said to the waiter, "I'm just going out to buy a newspaper." He then left the restaurant. The waiter gave the boy an ice cream.

The boy finished it in a few minutes and then walked to the door. The waiter ran to him quickly. "Excuse me. Your father didn't pay for his meal and your ice cream. You have to stay here until he comes back and pays the bill."

"I'm sorry," said the little boy, "the man is not my father. I don't know him." The waiter was perplexed. "What do you mean?" he asked.

"The man came to me and asked me whether I liked ice cream when I was playing in the street. I told him I did. Then, he told me to come into the restaurant at 2 o'clock and sit down at his table. He said he would give me some!"
